Atrium Health

Leadership Profile

J. Andy Crowder, is senior vice president and chief information and analytics officer for Atrium Health, one of the most comprehensive and highly integrated not-for-profit healthcare systems in the nation. As a member of the executive council, Crowder leads the entire IT and operation spectrum of Atrium Health. He also leverages the benefits of IT to help solve complex business issues and assists with orchestrating organizational change management and managing process reengineering projects.

With over 26 years of both executive and hands-on experience, Crowder joined Atrium Health in July 2019 as an industry veteran and well-respected thought leader. Previously, he served as senior vice president and chief information officer for Scripps Health, a non-profit healthcare system based in San Diego, California. Additional leadership positions held throughout his career include senior vice president and chief information officer for Maine Health, the largest healthcare organization in Maine and a leading healthcare provider serving northern New Hampshire, as well as senior vice president and chief information officer for Florida Hospital, one of America's largest hospitals.

Crowder received his Bachelor of Science in information technology from Kaplan University and is currently pursuing his master's degree in executive leadership with Purdue University. Additionally, he is a CHIME certified Chief Information Officer.
