

4th Year Elective Requirements for Orthopaedic Visiting Student Rotation ORTS 448

For fourth-year medical students, Carolinas Medical Center's Department of Orthopedic Surgery offers four-week elective orthopedic surgery rotations for visiting students.

These electives combine practical clinical experience with didactic instruction, including a series of mandatory formal conferences. Students work directly with residents and members of the orthopedic surgery attending staff. They participate in surgical procedures and treatments in the inpatient and outpatient setting.

Our healthcare system is affiliated with University of North Carolina School of Medicine (UNC SOM). However, our residency program is completely separate from UNC Orthopaedics. Because of our affiliation with the school of medicine at UNC, the visiting student application process will take you through UNC SOM.

Students interested should log onto : <http://www.aamc.org/vsas>

From the VSAS main page, click on Search Electives and select from the list of drop down boxes:
