

Wake Forest University
School of Medicine

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

CTSI Faculty Liaison Program

The Wake Forest Clinical and Translational Science Institute (CTSI) invites faculty to apply for the CTSI Faculty Liaison Program—an initiative designed to strengthen connections between CTSI and departments across the institution.

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The CTSI Faculty Liaison Program establishes a network of mid- to senior-level faculty who serve as key connectors between CTSI and their home departments or divisions. Liaisons play an essential role in promoting engagement in clinical and translational research, fostering collaboration, and ensuring that CTSI resources effectively support faculty research success.

PROGRAM GOALS

- Increase awareness and use of CTSI resources and services
- Facilitate bidirectional communication between CTSI leadership and faculty
- Support faculty development and research success
- Enhance collaboration across disciplines

LIAISON RESPONSIBILITIES

- Serve as the departmental point of contact for CTSI-related inquiries
- Share information about CTSI funding opportunities, workshops, and initiatives
- Provide feedback on departmental needs and barriers
- Identify opportunities for interdisciplinary collaboration
- Attend quarterly liaison meetings

PROGRAM SUPPORT AND RECOGNITION

- Dedicated CTSI staff contact for guidance and support
- Access to communication tools and promotional materials
- Recognition on the CTSI website

ELIGIBILITY AND TERM

- Open to mid- to senior-level faculty with interest or experience in clinical and translational research
- Liaisons will be asked to serve a two year renewable term

Deadline:
December 19, 2025

Please scan this QR code or click the box below to register.

APPLY NOW

For more information, contact:
Ellen Alexander
Ellen.Alexander@AdvocateHealth.org

Join us in advancing clinical and translational research at Wake Forest by becoming a CTSI Faculty Liaison!